External Funding Opportunities in the Humanities

The information below is taken from foundation websites as of May 2015.
When considering applying, check the foundation website, as information may have changed.

Alexander von Humbolt Foundation (Germany) http://www.humboldt-foundation.de/web/home.html
Residential. The Humboldt Foundation supports research cooperation between German, American and/or Canadian scholars in the humanities, social sciences, economics, and law. Funds can be used to finance short-term research visits lasting up to three months; to organize conferences and workshops; for material, equipment, and printing costs; for a limited amount of research assistance.

American Academy of Arts and Sciences Visiting Scholars Program (Cambridge, MA)
http://amacad.org/content/visitingScholars/home.aspx
Residential. Residential fellowships for junior faculty members and postdoctoral scholars in the humanities and social sciences. The fellowship program offers scholars a year for research and writing free from teaching and administrative duties, a collaborative work environment, and the opportunity to interact with Academy members. It also creates a national network for these scholars, assisting them in their research and professional development. The Academy seeks proposals in the humanities and social sciences relating to American history, culture, and public policy from the founding period to the present. Preference will be given to untenured faculty; postdoctoral scholars are also eligible. Candidates who are completing scholarly manuscripts are especially welcome.

American Academy in Berlin http://www.americanacademy.de/
Residential fellowships to emerging as well as established scholars, writers, and professionals who wish to engage in independent study in Berlin. Approximately two dozen Berlin Prizes are conferred annually. Past Prize recipients include historians, economists, poets, art historians, journalists, legal scholars, anthropologists, musicologists, public policy experts, and writers.

American Academy in Rome http://www.aarome.org/apply
Residential. The American Academy in Rome is the oldest American overseas center for independent study and advanced research in the arts and humanities. Each year, through a national juried competition, the Academy offers approximately 30 Rome Prize fellowships in ancient studies, architecture, design, historic preservation and conservation, landscape architecture, literature, medieval studies, modern Italian studies, musical composition, Renaissance and early modern studies, and visual arts.

Non-residential. Awards grants to members in the form of research, regional development, and Annual Meeting travel grants.

Residential. The American Antiquarian Society (a national research library of American history, literature, and culture through 1876) offers three broad categories of visiting research fellowships, with tenures ranging from one to twelve months. All of the fellowships are designed to enable academic and independent scholars and advanced graduate students to spend an uninterrupted block of time doing research in the AAS library.

Non-residential. Fellowships support women scholars who are completing dissertations, planning research leave from accredited institutions, or preparing research for publication. Applicants must demonstrate commitment helping women and girls through service in their communities, professions, or fields of research.

Postdoctoral Research Leave Fellowships seek to increase the number of women in tenure-track faculty positions and promote equality for women in higher education. This fellowship is designed to assist the candidate in obtaining tenure and further promotions by enabling her to spend a year pursuing independent research.

Summer/Short-Term Research Publication Grants provide funds for women college and university faculty and independent researchers to prepare research for publication. Time must be available for eight consecutive weeks of final writing and editing in response to issues raised in critical reviews. These grants can be awarded to both tenure-track and part-time faculty. Grants are designed to assist the candidate in obtaining tenure and other promotions. Tenured professors are not eligible.

The American Center of Oriental Research (ACOR) (Jordan) www.acorjordan.org

Residential. Two or more Fellowships for short-term research in Jordan. Awards are made possible through CAORC (Council of American Overseas Research Centers) & funded by the US Dept. of State’s Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. Topics may be in any sub-discipline in the natural & social sciences or humanities, & may focus on antiquity, the medieval period, or the modern era. Research topics should contribute to scholarship in Near Eastern studies.

Non-residential. ACLS is a private institution that supports scholars in the humanities and related social sciences at the doctoral and postdoctoral levels. Success rate is approximately 10%. The ACLS Fellowship program invites research applications in all disciplines of the humanities and related social sciences. The ultimate goal of the project should be a major piece of scholarly work. Other ACLS programs include (but are not limited to): Buddhist Studies, China Studies, Collaborative Research Fellowships, Digital Innovation Fellowships, as well as fellowships for advanced assistant professors and for recently tenured faculty. Programs have specific eligibility criteria: you must read program pages carefully and review FAQs to ascertain eligibility.

American Philological Association (Munich) http://apaclasics.org/awards-and-fellowships/tll-fellowship

The Society for Classical Studies invites applications for a one-year Fellowship which will enable an American scholar to participate in the work of the Thesaurus Linguae Latinae Institute in Munich. Fellows develop a broadened perspective of the range and complexity of the Latin language and culture from the classical period through the early Middle Ages, contribute signed articles to the Thesaurus, have the opportunity to participate in a collaborative international research project in a collegial environment, and work with senior scholars in the field of Latin lexicography. The Fellowship is made possible in part by a grant from the NEH.
American Philosophical Association  http://www.apaonline.org/?page=grantfund
Non-residential. The Small Grant Fund: The APA Eastern Division provides a total $25,000 per year for the APA to allocate among approved projects; awards are generally no more than $5,000 each. Proposals must be submitted no later than June 30. Only APA members may apply for this and any other APA grant. Additional grants are listed below the Small Grant Fund information. APA’s site also contains a list of funding for the humanities at http://www.apaonline.org/?page=grantsandfellowships

American Philosophical Society  http://www.amphilsoc.org/grants
Residential & non-residential. The first learned society of the US. The American Philosophical Society has awarded small grants to scholars in order to support the cost of research leading to publication in all areas of knowledge. In 2013–2014 the Franklin Research Grants program awarded grants to 85 scholars. The Franklin Grants Program ($6,000 max.) is designed to help meet the costs of travel to libraries and archives for research purposes; the purchase of microfilm, photocopies, or equivalent research materials; the costs associated with fieldwork; or laboratory research expenses. This program also includes the APS/British Academy Fellowship for Research in London; APS/Institute for Advanced Studies in the Humanities Fellowship for Research in Edinburgh, and short-term (one-three months) residential fellowships for conducting research in its collections, which include research in the history of American science and technology and its European roots, as well as early American history and culture.

American School of Classical Studies in Athens  http://www.ascsa.edu.gr/index.php/admission-membership/grants
Four types of fellowships for senior scholars: Kress, NEH, Weiner Laboratory Postdoctoral, and Weiner Laboratory Fellowships. Review guidelines carefully, particularly with regard to eligibility

Archaeological Institute of America  (at Boston University)  http://www.archaeological.org/grants
Fellowships, Travel Grants, Excavation & Preservation Grants. Must be a member of the AIA. Deadline for most grants is November 1, except for Colburn Fellowship at the American School of Classical Studies in Athens, which had a deadline of January 15.

A Room of Her Own Foundation  http://aroomofherownfoundation.org/awards/
Non-residential. Awards to support women writers in a variety of genres and stages of professional and creative development.

Association for Asian Studies  https://www.asian-studies.org/grants/main.htm
Numerous awards, fellowships, and grants for scholars in Asian studies at this site. Most fellowships require membership.

Bogliasco Fellowship Program  (Bogliasco, Italy)  https://www.bfny.org/en/apply
Residential. Approximately 50 residential Fellowships are awarded to artists and scholars in the various disciplines of the Arts and Humanities (Archaeology, Architecture, Classics, Dance, Film/Video, History, Landscape Architecture, Literature, Music, Philosophy, Theater, and Visual Arts). Although the Fellowship is not a cash prize, Fellows are provided with living quarters, separate private studios and full board for a month at the Study Center in Bogliasco, Italy. Applicants should demonstrate significant achievement in their disciplines, commensurate with their age and experience. The Foundation gives preference to those whose applications suggest that they would be comfortable working in an intimate, international, multilingual community of scholars and artists.
Camargo Foundation (Cassis, France) www.camargofoundation.org

Fellowship residencies of 1-3 months. The Foundation welcomes applications from individuals, including scholars working in French and Francophone cultures, including cross-cultural studies that engage the cultures and influences of the Mediterranean region. Visual artists, creative writers, film/video/new media directors, playwrights, composers, choreographers, and multidisciplinary artists. The Camargo Foundation welcomes scholars and artists from all countries and nationalities as well as all career levels.

Center for Hellenic Studies at Harvard University www.chs.harvard.edu

Residential, various sites. Supports scholars working on the ancient Greek world through:

- CHS Fellowships in Hellenic Studies at the CHS for up to 18 weeks. Applications are due annually in October.
- CHS/DAI Joint Fellowships include stipends from the DAI and CHS and housing in Berlin and on the CHS campus in Washington, DC. The fellowship term is 37 weeks. Applications are due annually in October.
- Grants for Visiting Scholars include up to six nights of housing in a studio apartment on campus and support for travel. The CHS will consider requests from visiting scholars on a rolling basis.

Centre for Research in the Arts, Social Sciences, and Humanities (CRASSH) (Cambridge University, England) http://www.crassh.cam.ac.uk/programmes/fellowships

Residential fellowships. The Centre offers a number of programs to bring scholars from all over the world to CRASSH - from postdoctoral and early career researchers to more established visiting fellows - to interact at the heart of a vibrant interdisciplinary research environment. As the fellowship group grows, it becomes clearer than ever not only what our visitors gain from access to Cambridge research resources, but also how much they bring to Cambridge: the lively intellectual traffic that energizes an international university. Associated with the European Institute for Advanced Studies, http://www.2016-2017.eurias-fp.eu/

Chiang Ching-kuo Foundation for International Scholarly Exchange http://www.cckf.org/e-donation.htm

Grants provide support for research on Chinese Studies in the humanities and social sciences. Researchers focusing on the political, social, economic, or cultural development of Taiwan over the past few decades are especially encouraged to apply.

Council of American Overseas Research Centers (Multi-country program) www.caorc.org/programs/multi

Residential. CAORC’s Multi-Country Fellowship Program supports advanced regional or trans-regional research in the humanities, social sciences, or allied natural sciences. Preference will be given to candidates examining comparative and/or cross-regional research. Applicants are eligible to apply as individuals or in teams. Scholars must carry out research in two or more countries outside the US, at least one of which hosts a participating American overseas research center. Funding is provided by the State Department's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. Over 25 research centers: in north and west Africa, Europe, near and Far East, and Mexico.
Center for LGBT Studies [http://www.clags.org/fellowships-awards/]
Non-residential. Offers several awards, including the CLAGS Fellowship Award for work on a dissertation or a first or second book manuscript. The CLAGS Fellowship is open to intellectuals contributing to the field of LGBTQ studies. Intended to give the scholar the most help possible in furthering his or her work; the fellowship will be able to be used for research, travel, or writing support.

DAAD German Academic Exchange Service (Germany) [https://www.daad.org/]
Short-term research stays. DAAD offers grants for one to three months in all academic disciplines to scholars from US and Canadian institutions of higher education to pursue research at universities, libraries, archives, institutes or laboratories in Germany. Grants are awarded for research and working projects and cannot be used for travel only. The grant is open for research and working projects of university teachers in the following disciplines: Architecture, Fine Art, Film, Design/Visual Communication, Performing Arts, and Music. Good command of German and research in Germany are essential to the proposed project.

Dumbarton Oaks (Washington, D.C.) [www.doaks.org/research]
Residential Fellowships: Byzantine, Pre-Columbian, Garden and Landscape Awards.
Non-residential grants generally fund non-destructive archeological exploration or endangered surveying/photographing monuments that are within the organization’s areas of interest. Note: “Before applying, applicants must contact the appropriate Director of Studies to determine if the project is within the purview of Dumbarton Oaks.” There is a deadline for contacting the Director of Studies.

Fulbright U.S. Scholar Program [www.cies.org/us_scholars/us_awards]
Residential, in various countries, for varying amount of time. Check the website and contact the program officer to discuss your project and eligibility. The core Fulbright U.S. Scholar Program provides approximately 800 teaching and/or research grants to U.S. faculty and experienced professionals in academic and professional fields. Grants are available in over 125 countries. Grant lengths vary in duration: applicants can propose projects for a period of two to 12 months, as specified in the award description. Next deadline: Monday, August 3, 2015 (All day)

Gerda Henkel Foundation, (Germany) [http://www.gerda-henkel-stiftung.de/grants]
Supports travel and research. Candidates may apply regardless of nationality and place of work. Support is provided for the historical humanities to support research projects in: Archaeology, Art History, Historical Islamic Studies, History, History of Law, History of Science, Prehistory and Early History. The Foundation is also interested in issues of great relevance to contemporary life, as part of its special “Islam, the Modern Nation State and Transnational Movements” and “Security, Society and the State” programs.

Getty Foundation (Los Angeles) [www.getty.edu/foundation/]
Residential. The Foundation supports institutions and individuals committed to advancing the greater understanding and preservation of the visual arts in Los Angeles and throughout the world. Grant initiatives increase access to museum collections, strengthen art history as a global discipline, advance conservation practice, and support current and future leaders in the visual arts. The work may be in collaboration with the other Getty programs—the J. Paul Getty Museum, the Getty Research Institute, and the Institute for Advanced Study, School of Historical Studies. (Princeton, NJ) www.hs.ias.edu/mellon Residential. Supports scholarship in all fields of historical research, but is concerned principally with the history of western, near eastern and Asian civilizations, with particular emphasis upon Greek and Roman civilization, the history of Europe (medieval, early modern, and modern), the Islamic world, East Asian studies, art history, the history of science and philosophy, and modern international relations. The School also offers the Edward T. Cone Membership in Music Studies.

John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation. www.gf.org
Non-residential. The Foundation offers Fellowships to further the development of scholars and artists by assisting them to engage in research in any field of knowledge and creation in any of the arts, under the freest possible conditions and irrespective of race, color, or creed. The Foundation receives between 3,500 and 4,000 applications each year. Although no one who applies is guaranteed success in the competition, there is no prescreening: all applications are reviewed. Approximately 200 Fellowships are awarded each year. Often characterized as “midcareer” awards, Guggenheim Fellowships are intended for men and women who have already demonstrated exceptional capacity for productive scholarship or exceptional creative ability in the arts.

George and Eliza Howard Foundation http://www.brown.edu/initiatives/howard-foundation/
Non-residential. Awards a limited number of fellowships each year for independent projects in selected fields, targeting early mid-career individuals who have achieved recognition for at least one major project. Fellowships provide artists, scholars, and writers with time to complete their work. Fellowships are offered in a five-year sequence of fields; check website.

Hagley Museum and Library (Wilmington, Delaware) http://www.hagley.org/library-grants
Residential. The Hagley Museum and Library collects, preserves, and interprets the unfolding history of American enterprise. Hagley's collections document the interaction between business and the cultural, social, and political dimensions of our society from the late 18th century to the present. Hagley invites serious researchers to apply for a grant to defray the costs of an extended stay intended to use our collections.

Harry Ransom Center at the University of Texas at Austin http://www.hrc.utexas.edu/research/fellowships/
Short-term residencies. Annually awards more than 50 fellowships to support research projects that require substantial on-site use of its collections. The fellowships support research in all areas of the humanities, including literature, photography, film, art, the performing arts, music, and cultural history.

Huntington Library (California) http://www.huntington.org/WebAssets/Templates/content.aspx?id=566
Residential Fellowships for research at the Huntington Library
Non-residential short-term Travel Grants and Exchange Fellowships in England; also Joint Professorships and Collaborative Fellowships. The Huntington is an independent research center with holdings in British and American history, literature, art history, and the history of science and medicine. Collections range from the eleventh century to the present. Within the fields listed are many areas of special strength. The Art Collections contain notable British and American paintings, fine prints, photographs, and an art reference library. The Botanical Gardens library contains a broad collection of reference works in botany, horticulture, and gardening.

Library of Congress, John W. Kluge Center www.loc.gov/loc/kluge/fellowships/kluge.html
Residential. Research in the humanities and social sciences, especially interdisciplinary, cross-cultural or multilingual.
Eligibility: Open to scholars worldwide with a Ph.D. or other terminal advanced degree conferred within seven years of deadline.
The John W. Kluge Center at the Library of Congress invites qualified scholars to conduct research at the Center using the Library of Congress collections and resources for a period of four to eleven months. Established in 2000 through an endowment from John W. Kluge, the Center is in the Jefferson Building of the Library of Congress. The Kluge Center furnishes attractive work and discussion space for Kluge Chair holders, for distinguished visiting scholars, and for post-doctoral Fellows supported by other private foundation gifts. Residents have easy access to the Library's specialized staff and to the intellectual community of Washington.

Library Company of Philadelphia www.librarycompany.org
Residential. One of the most comprehensive sources in the nation for the study of colonial and U.S. history and culture. One-month residential fellowships.

Loeb Classical Library Fellowships http://lclf.harvard.edu/icb/icb.do
Non-residential. The Loeb Classical Library Foundation awards fellowships to qualified scholars to support research, publication, and other projects in the area of classical studies. Applicants must have faculty or faculty emeritus status at a college or university at the time of application and during the entire time covered by the fellowship.

The Louisville Institute’s Sabbatical Grant for Researchers Program enables ecclesiastically-engaged academics and scholarly religious leaders to conduct a major study that can contribute to the vitality of Christianity in North America. Grants to support year-long research projects that address Christian faith and life, the practice of ministry, and/or religious institutions.

Residential. Fellowships at the Metropolitan Museum are an opportunity for a community of scholars from around the world to use the Museum as a place for exchange, research, and professional advancement. The fellows are fully integrated into the community of art history and conservation fellows and, through weekly gatherings and workshops, take part in research sharing and workshops that explore the inner workings of the Met. Fellows are given a workspace and access to libraries, collections, research facilities, labs, and, perhaps most importantly, the time and space to think.
National Endowment for the Arts  http://arts.gov/grants/apply-grant/grants-individuals

Non-Residential. 1) Fellowships in fiction, poetry, and creative nonfiction enable recipients to set aside time for writing, research, travel, and career advancement. 2) Translation Projects to translate work from other languages into English.

National Endowment for the Humanities www.neh.gov

Non-Residential fellowships, including Collaborative Research, Digital Humanities, Fellowships, Translations, and other Grants. NEH Fellowships “support individuals pursuing advanced research that is of value to humanities scholars, general audiences, or both. Recipients usually produce articles, monographs, books, digital materials, archaeological site reports, translations, editions, or other scholarly resources in the humanities. Projects may be at any stage of development.

NEH Summer Stipends by nomination of institution only.

National Gallery – Center for Advanced Study in the Visual Arts (Washington, D.C.) http://www.nga.gov/content/ngaweb/research/casva.html

Residential. Numerous fellowships; check website for specific information.

National Humanities Center (North Carolina) www.nationalhumanitiescenter.org

Residential. The Center annually welcomes up to forty scholars from all fields of the humanities. Individually, Fellows pursue their own research and writing. Together, they create a stimulating community of intellectual discourse. Most Fellows are in residence for the academic year (September through May), though one-semester fellowships are also awarded. Fellowship applicants must have a PhD or equivalent scholarly credentials along with a strong record of peer-reviewed work, normally a published monograph or other major project. Emerging scholars as well as senior scholars are encouraged to apply. In addition to researchers from all fields of the humanities, the Center invites scholars from the natural and social sciences, the arts, the professions, and public life who are engaged in humanistic projects to apply. Applicants from all parts of the world are welcome; U.S. citizenship is not a requirement.

Netherlands Institute for Advanced Study https://www.nias.knaw.nl/

Residential. Fellows are selected from prominent researchers and senior scholars in the humanities and social sciences who have already made a contribution to their field. At least 3 years of post-Ph.D. degree academic experience is a prerequisite. NIAS offers space, time and the possibility to interact with renowned scholars from different backgrounds. It provides the facilities to free scholars from the everyday constraints of the university system, enabling them to generate new ideas and bring academic work to fruition. The NIAS Fellow will be allotted a personal office in the main building with a computer and internet connection, and be entitled to the use of the library service and a limited amount of support.

NewMusicUSA  https://www.newmusicusa.org/

Non-residential. Grants for the creation and performance of new work and community building throughout the country.
New York Public Library – Dorothy & Lewis Cullman Center for Scholars & Writers (NYC) http://www.nypl.org/help/about-nypl/fellowships-institutes/center-for-scholars-and-writers

For projects that draw upon the research collections of the NYPL’s Humanities & Social Sciences library. Cullman Center Fellow Fellows work at the Center for the duration of the fellowship term, which runs from September through May. Each Fellow gives a talk over lunch on current work-in-progress to the other Fellows and to a wide range of invited guests, and may be asked to take part in other programs at The New York Public Library.

Newberry Library (Chicago) www.newberry.org/research/felshp/short-term

For researchers who wish to use the collection, we offer intriguing and often rare materials; a lively, interdisciplinary community of researchers; individual consultations on your research with staff curators, librarians, and other scholars; and an array of both scholarly and public programs. The Newberry administers annual competitions for both Long-Term Fellowships of 4 to 12 months and Short-Term Fellowships of 1 to 2 months. Short-Term Fellowships assist researchers who need to examine specific items in the Newberry's collection and are mostly restricted to individuals who live outside the Chicago area. Long-Term Fellowships are generally available without regard to an applicant’s place of residence and support significant works of scholarship that draw on the strengths of the collection. The Newberry also offers many special awards and fellowships which carry specific requirements. To learn more about these requirements, please visit How to Apply.

Notre Dame Institute for Advanced Study (NDIAS) http://ndias.nd.edu/fellowships/

Two residential, academic year Templeton Foundation fellowships; other residential fellowships for periods ranging from three weeks to a full academic year. The Institute welcomes applications from faculty, scholars, public intellectuals, fellows from other institutes, and professional researchers in all disciplines, including the arts, engineering, the humanities, law, and the social and physical sciences with projects that are creative, innovative, or align with the intellectual orientation of the NDIAS. The Institute welcomes those who are beginning their careers with promise and have appropriate projects.

Oregon State University: The Center for the Humanities http://oregonstate.edu/dept/humanities/fellowship-program

Residential. Check website in fall 2015.

Princeton University – Program in Hellenic Studies. www.princeton.edu/hellenic/

Residential. Visiting Research Fellowships: The Seeger Center for Hellenic Studies at Princeton offers visiting research fellowships that are awarded annually on a competitive basis.

Radcliffe Institute Fellowship Program at Harvard University. www.radcliffe.edu

Residential. Only 4 percent of applicants are selected each year. Fellows—women and men—are at the forefront of the arts, journalism, humanities, sciences, and social sciences. Fellows focus on an individual project while benefiting from a dynamic, multidisciplinary community at Harvard University.

Residential & non-residential. Awards grants supporting research projects and publications that aim to advance scholarly knowledge about the Renaissance; also awards some subvention grants. Only RSA members are eligible to apply.

Rockefeller Foundation, Bellagio Center Residency (Lake Como, Italy)  http://www.rockefellerfoundation.org/bellagio-center

Residential. Two to four-week residencies, up to 15 scholars at a time, for researchers in the humanities, natural sciences, social sciences, and other academic disciplines. The Academic Writing residency is for university academics based at think tanks, researchers, professors, and scientists working in any discipline. The Center has a strong interest in proposals that align with the Foundation's work to expand opportunities and to strengthen resilience for poor or vulnerable people, in particular projects relevant to the Foundation's core issue areas: Advance Health, Revalue Ecosystems, Secure Livelihoods, and Transform Cities. To ensure an intellectually diverse and stimulating environment, the program welcomes projects from all academic disciplines.

School for Advanced Research (Santa Fe, New Mexico)  http://sarweb.org/index.php?scholars

Residential. Through its Scholar and Summer Scholar programs, SAR awards residential fellowships each year to scholars in the social sciences, arts, and humanities who need time to think and write.

For projects that draw on use of the collections. The Smithsonian's vast collections, numerous facilities, and staff expertise provide a range of opportunities for independent research. Smithsonian Institution Fellows receive stipends from the central fund and can be found in all areas of the Smithsonian exploring, probing and charting new directions. Senior Researcher Fellowships are typically 3 to 12 months in length. Applicants must have held a Ph.D. or equivalent for at least 7 years. Applicants for centrally funded Smithsonian Institution Fellowships should select one of the applications found under the Office of Fellowships in SOLAA at https://solaa.si.edu/solaa/SOLAAHome.html

Society for American Music  http://www.american-music.org/awards/AwardInformation.php

Non-Residential. Five small fellowships. Must be a member to apply.

Residential. External fellowships are intended primarily for individuals currently teaching in or affiliated with an academic institution, but independent scholars may apply. Faculty fellowships are awarded across the spectrum of academic ranks (assistant, associate, and full professor) and a goal of the selection process is to create a diverse community of scholars. Applicants who are members of traditionally under-represented groups are encouraged to apply. Awards are made from an applicant pool of approximately 250. Fellowships are for one full academic year, and require the fellow to be in residence during Autumn, Winter, and Spring Quarters.
Tanner Humanities Center at the University of Utah  http://thc.utah.edu/fellowships/applications.php

Two residential, academic-year fellowships. Projects in any of the following fields are eligible for support: anthropology and archaeology, communication, history, philosophy, religious studies, ethnic/gender/cultural studies, jurisprudence, history/theory/criticism of the arts, languages, and linguistics, literature, creative writing, historical or philosophical issues in the social and natural sciences, or the professions. The Center encourages projects that are interdisciplinary and likely to contribute to substantive intellectual exchange among a diverse group of scholars.

Templeton Foundation  http://www.templeton.org/what-we-fund

Winterthur Research Fellowship Program  ([Winterthur, Delaware] http://winterthur.org/fellowship)

Short and long-term residential research fellowships. Academic, museum, and independent scholars receive one- to three-month short term fellowships. Applicants need not apply for a specific named fellowship, but certain awards are designated as: Faith Andrews Fellowships for the study of Shaker life and material culture; Robert Lee Gill Fellowships for research on American decorative arts, painting, architecture, or historic preservation; and Neville McD. Thompson Fellowships for the study of domestic life, late 19th- and early 20th-century design and material culture. Winterthur also participates in an NEH-funded program, Fellowships at Independent Research Institutions. NEH Research Fellows may receive fellowships to pursue advanced research.

Woodrow Wilson Center  ([Washington, D.C.] http://www.wilsoncenter.org/fellowships-grants)

Residential. Through an international competition, the Center offers 9-month residential fellowships. The Wilson Center invites scholars, practitioners, journalists and public intellectuals to take part in its flagship international Fellowship Program. Fellows conduct research and write in their areas of interest, while interacting with policymakers in Washington and Wilson Center staff and other scholars in residence. The Center accepts policy-relevant, non-advocacy fellowship proposals that address key challenges confronting the United States and the world. The Center awards approximately 15-20 residential fellowships each year.

Yale Institute of Sacred Music  http://ism.yale.edu/

Residential. Fellows are scholars, religious leaders, and artists at all career stages whose work is in or is moving to the fields of sacred music, liturgical/ritual studies, or religion and the arts. Scholars in the humanities or the social or natural sciences, whose work is directly related to these areas, are also encouraged to apply. Fellows have the opportunity to pursue their scholarly or artistic projects within a vibrant, interdisciplinary community, and they may have the option to teach.

The work of the Institute touches a broad array of disciplines, including: Anthropology ~ Art ~ Architecture ~ Composition ~ Creative Writing ~ Ethnomusicology ~ Film Studies ~ History of Art or Architecture ~ Languages ~ Literature ~ Liturgical Studies ~ Musicology ~ Religious Studies ~ Ritual Studies ~ Sociology ~ Theatre Studies ~ Theology ~ World Religions, and more.

* * *