Ordering Your Cap and Gown

Master’s and doctoral candidates should place their orders for rental attire online at fordham.edu/capandgown before the Friday, April 8, deadline. (The deadline for the School of Law was March 4.) Academic attire will be available only at the site selected on the order form and only at the times listed on the following page.

Graduates who do not order academic attire by the deadline date may come to the distribution dates for their school as listed on the next page. Some extra apparel will be available on a first-come, first-served basis. Extras will be distributed for cash only, and a $10 late fee (cash only) will be charged.

Master’s and doctoral gowns must be returned immediately following the school diploma ceremony.

Wearing Your Academic Attire

The gowns and colors of academic dress indicate the graduate’s level of academic accomplishment, discipline, and school/university affiliation. We ask for graduates’ cooperation in not modifying academic attire with personal items that may distract from the academic ritual.

The cut of the gown identifies the degree. The bachelor’s gown has pointed sleeves, while the master’s gown has oblong-cut sleeves. Both gowns are worn closed in the front. The doctoral gown has bell-shaped sleeves typically crossed with bands of velvet. Fordham’s custom maroon doctoral gown has a hook-and-eye closure at the neck but is worn open in the front.

The length of the hood indicates the level of the degree. The color of the velvet border indicates the field of learning in which the degree was earned and includes white for arts, gold for science, brown for fine arts, dark blue for philosophy, light blue for education, purple for law, citron for social service, and light brown for business. The inner lining of Fordham hoods is maroon, the University’s official color.

For the academic procession at the University Commencement, graduates carry the hood draped over the left arm with the color that represents the degree clearly visible. Candidates don their hoods after the president has conferred all degrees. The hood should be placed around your neck and shoulders so that the major portion hangs down the back and the velvet is up. The cord in the front of the hood should be fastened to your clothing. The master’s cap is worn with the traditional black tassel forward and to the left. Doctoral candidates wear a tam which has an attached tassel.

For any questions regarding academic attire, contact Steve Clarke at Herff Jones Inc. at thegraduateguy@aol.com or 516-223-2572.

University Commencement

Each candidate who has fulfilled the requirements for a degree is encouraged to participate in the University Commencement. Please note that degree recipients are required to wear academic attire.

Tickets are not required for admission to the Rose Hill campus or to the University Commencement ceremony on Edwards Parade on Saturday, May 21.

Assembly of Candidates

All graduates must be at the appropriate lineup site no later than 9:30 a.m. with their caps and gowns. Master’s and doctoral candidates line up between Spellman Hall and Tierney Hall. (See pages 8–9 for your school’s location.) Signs will be posted that day to assist you. The Victory Bell sounds at 9:55 a.m., and the academic procession begins immediately thereafter. At that point, please proceed under your faculty marshal’s direction. As the oldest of Fordham’s schools, Fordham College at Rose Hill leads the procession.
The University Commencement Ceremony

After everyone has processed in, please rise for the invocation and remain standing throughout the presentation of the colors and the playing of the national anthem.

Honorary degrees are awarded to several candidates who will be announced at a later date. One of the honorary degree candidates will then address the degree candidates and their guests.

Next, the dean of each school in the University presents to the president a scroll containing the listing of names of candidates for degrees. Father McShane then asks all candidates for degrees and all faculty members to stand. After the conferral of degrees, all graduates are to put their hoods over their heads, don their caps, and be seated. One student representative from each school will be hooded by the dean and receive a diploma. The PhD and EdD candidates are then called to come forward individually to receive their diplomas from the president.

Father McShane then congratulates all of the graduates. Following a benediction and the singing of the Alma Mater, all students, except Fordham College at Rose Hill students, leave Edwards Parade. All doctoral students seated on Keating Terrace follow the platform party (trustees, honorary degree recipients, vice presidents, and deans). Under the direction of the faculty marshals, doctoral graduates will be invited to walk out with a member of the faculty who is seated on the opposite side of Keating Terrace to symbolize their entrance into the academy. Other degree candidates from the graduate and professional schools who are seated on Edwards Parade will process to their diploma ceremony/reception locations under the direction of their faculty marshals.

Severe Weather

Because we do not have one indoor facility that is large enough to hold all of our graduates and guests, we will hold the University Commencement ceremony outside if at all possible.

Please be aware that if there is just a little rain or periodic showers, the ceremony will likely remain outside. Therefore please plan ahead and carry an umbrella, wear sensible shoes, and bring a nice sense of humor.

If the University Commencement is moved inside, graduates and guests entering the campus after 8 a.m. will be informed at the entrance. We will also periodically run an announcement from the sound system on Edwards Parade. After 8 a.m., you may call the University at 800-280-7669 for a recorded announcement or check Fordham’s website at fordham.edu.

If a decision is made to conduct all ceremonies indoors, graduates and their guests should report to the following severe weather locations:

Graduate School of Arts and Sciences
Guests report to University Church; graduates assemble in the basement of the University Church.

Graduate School of Education
Guests report to the Leonard Theatre of Fordham Preparatory School; graduates assemble in the school cafeteria of Fordham Preparatory School.

Graduate School of Religion and Religious Education
Guests report to Keating First Auditorium in Keating Hall; graduates assemble in the hallways outside the auditorium.

Gabelli School of Business (master’s), Graduate School of Social Service, and School of Law
Guests report to Keating Third Auditorium in Keating Hall; graduates assemble in the hallways outside the auditorium.

The University Commencement ceremony address and honorary degree presentations will be videocast to the locations listed above after the graduates process in to their severe weather locations. Following the University Commencement ceremony, graduates from the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, the Graduate School of Education, and the Graduate School of Religion and Religious Education will remain at the locations above for their diploma ceremonies. Graduates from the Law School will proceed to their reception.
Travel Information

The University Commencement brings over 20,000 people to the Rose Hill campus, which makes parking a major challenge. Alcoholic Beverages
Please do not bring beverages, alcoholic or otherwise, to the procession area, to Edwards Parade, or to the diploma ceremonies. Graduates found with beverages in their possession will be asked by faculty marshals to leave. To avoid any awkward situations, please inform your guests that alcohol is not allowed at the University Commencement or the diploma ceremonies.

Announcements
Degree candidates from the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Graduate School of Education, and the Graduate School of Religion and Religious Education receive five announcements for the University Commencement from their deans. Degree candidates from the Graduate School of Social Service, Gabelli School of Business (master’s), and the School of Law who plan to attend the University Commencement at Rose Hill will also receive five announcements from their deans.

Personalized announcements may be purchased through Herff Jones (herffjones.com/college/fordham) and Jostens (jostens.com).
Bookstore
The hours of the University Bookstore, located in O’Hare Hall (next to the parking garage), will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Commencement Day. Bookstore items will also be available at the main campus entrance off Southern (Kazimiroff) Boulevard.

Cell Phones
Please turn off the sound on all cell phones during the procession and the ceremony as a courtesy to guests and graduates.

Diploma Frames
Diploma frames are available in the University Bookstore or from Herff Jones (herffjones.com/college/fordham).

Emergency Services
In the event of an emergency requiring medical treatment, seek the assistance of uniformed security personnel who will contact emergency medical teams. In addition, registered nurses will be on duty at the Health Center located in the basement of O’Hare Hall from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Commencement Day. (See map on page 8.)

Food Service
Food service will be available in the McGinley Center from 7:30 a.m. until after the diploma ceremonies. Food and drinks will be available at several other locations on campus as indicated in the University Commencement program.
Gifts and Messages
Because of the impossibility of delivery, the University cannot accept flowers, greetings, gifts, or telephone messages intended for graduates on Commencement Day.

Photos and Videotaping
The best opportunities for individual photos are at the diploma ceremonies, not the University Commencement. There will be ample opportunity to take individual photos at the diploma ceremonies. In addition, there will be a professional photographer from Island Photo or Grad Images who will photograph each of the graduates as they receive their diploma from the dean. University policy forbids unauthorized commercial use of photographs or videotapes. At all times, we ask that individuals taking photos or videotaping be considerate of others in the audience.

Restrooms
Many campus buildings are open, and blue signs will direct you to restrooms. Ushers can also direct you to open facilities. Accessible restrooms are located in the McGinley Center, Dealy Hall, Walsh Library, O’Hare Hall, Houlihan Park, and under the Coffey Field bleachers. Portable restrooms are also located between Campbell and Salice Halls.

People with Disabilities
All ceremony locations are accessible, and all accessible restrooms will be clearly marked. There is no designated wheelchair seating at the Rose Hill ceremonies. However, you can pull up your wheelchair to any row at the ceremonies for seating. Please note that Fordham is not able to provide wheelchairs for guests. The University Commencement ceremony will be videocast (rain or shine) in Keating First Auditorium, which is air-conditioned and accessible.

If someone with a physical disability is accompanying your group to the Rose Hill ceremonies, enter the campus through the Main Entrance on Southern (Kazimiroff) Boulevard, across from the New York Botanical Garden. (See map on page 8.) From there, you will be directed to the parking garage where there will be a golf cart tram station. The trams (which can hold a foldable wheelchair if you are bringing your own wheelchair) will be running continuously throughout the day to and from the garage and all major ceremony locations. Reservations are not required for the trams, and all members of your party are welcome to ride the trams. People needing special assistance should be dropped off at the tram station while the rest of your group parks. As parking and ceremony seating is on a first-come, first-served basis, we recommend that you plan to arrive early.

Guests who need a sign language interpreter for the University Commencement or one of the Rose Hill diploma ceremonies should make arrangements at least two weeks in advance by contacting the Office of Disability Services at disabilityservices@fordham.edu. Please indicate in the email which ceremonies you will be attending.

If you have additional questions regarding disability needs for Commencement, please contact disabilityservices@fordham.edu. For questions regarding the diploma ceremonies in Manhattan, please contact the appropriate dean’s office.
