Fordham in Granada is based at the University of Granada, the third largest university in Spain, with a diverse student population and history dating back to 1531, when Emperor Charles V founded the institution on the site of the previous Arab University.

Granada, a recognized World Heritage Site and a City of Literature by UNESCO, is one of the most beautiful cities in Spain and the world. It is also the hometown of Federico García Lorca and the center for flamenco culture. The Alhambra Palace, the Sacromonte and Albayzin neighborhoods, the Cathedral and the numerous Baroque churches of the city are a testament of a rich past which continues to be alive through its vibrant university community.

University Facilities
As enrolled students at the University of Granada and Centro de Lenguas Modernas, participants have access to the university’s facilities including libraries, audiovisual media centers, multimedia classrooms, and the Fordham in Granada office. Students are offered individualized tutoring and can expect their academic progress to be closely followed and guided by program staff. Workshops on creative writing, film editing, cooking, social service, as well as conversation exchanges and other opportunities are offered.

Internships & Social Justice
Fordham in Granada offers the opportunity to enroll in for-credit internships administered by the University of Granada in partnership with local companies and organizations. Students interested in pursuing careers in business, education, health services and social service are particularly encouraged to apply.

Internships require the completion of 45 hours of supervised work, ten hours of seminar instruction and participation during class. Students will complete a final project and present their experience to their classmates and instructor at the end of the semester. Intermediate or advanced level of Spanish is necessary.

Internships are available in the fields of Business, Education Institutions, Health Services, and Social Service and Community Work.

Housing
An integral component of our Fordham in Granada programs is the full immersion living arrangement. Students live with local Granadan families and gain insight into Spanish tradition and culture while living in the center of the city. It is also the perfect opportunity to strengthen one’s language skills. Each host family is carefully selected by the University of Granada and will provide students with a supportive experience, as well as basic amenities including three meals a day and wifi. Students typically share a private bedroom with another program participant.
