

The Corporate Law Center presents

Finding Purpose in Practice:
Profit and Career Fulfillment
in an Age of Corporate Social Responsibility

October 11, 2022 | 5 - 6 p.m.

Fordham Law School

Hill Faculty Conference Room (7-119)

150 West 62nd Street

New York, NY 10023

FORDHAM UNIVERSITY
THE SCHOOL OF LAW

This event tackles the question of how firms can provide their employees with meaning while still running a profitable business. With businesses making a professional shift away from pure profit to include employee satisfaction and social responsibility, how should the next generation of corporate lawyers pursue purpose, and how can businesses ensure that they provide it while also thriving financially?

Agenda

5 - 6 p.m. | Program

Panelists:

Christine Moundas '10

Partner, Ropes & Gray LLP

Roger Mok '07

Lead Counsel, Wells Fargo Commercial Banking

Brian Schmidt '07

Founder, Hoop, Inc.

The Fordham Corporate Law Center presents
Finding Purpose in Practice: Profit and Career Fulfillment in an Age of Corporate Social Responsibility

1. Christine Moundas

Partner, Ropes & Gray LLP (Fordham Law '10)

- a. Ms. Moundas is a partner in the firm's health care practice group, co-head of the firm's digital health initiative, and an active participant in the firm's data, privacy & cybersecurity group.
- b. Ms. Moundas's publications include co-authorship on articles such as What CMS E-Records Proposal Means for Hospitals, Law360 (May 27, 2022) and What DOJ's Cyberfraud Initiative Means for Health Companies, Law360 (December 22, 2021).

2. Roger Mok

Lead Counsel, Wells Fargo (Fordham Law '07)

- a. Mr. Mok is lead counsel for the Wells Fargo renewable energy group. Mr. Mok started his career as an associate at Troutman Sanders and then Allen & Overy before becoming in-house counsel at major corporations like Philips Lighting and Bank of America.

3. Brian Schmidt

Founder, Hoop, Inc. (Fordham Law '07)

- a. Mr. Schmidt is the founder of Hoop, Inc. and former Chief of Staff of Trello, Inc. Mr. Schmidt started his career as an associate at Katten Muchin before entering the tech space on the business side. His new venture reimagines how we work by harnessing technology to improve all aspects of modern working arrangements.