Your Reputation
Who is the audience?
What are other people seeing when they look you up?
What should you do when...

- You come to regret something you have written or posted online, either about yourself or someone else?
What should you do when...

• Someone else comes to you to tell you that there’s something you’ve posted that they think is bad or upsetting?
What should you do when...

- You find something bad that someone else has posted about you?
What should you do when...

- Asking someone to remove the bad material doesn’t work?
Inappropriate Pictures

• Remember that taking, sending and even forwarding inappropriate pictures of underage people (including of yourself) is illegal and can cause serious trouble for everyone involved.

• These pictures tend to spread very quickly and could make your life at school extremely unpleasant.

• Have a strategy ready for saying no.
  – Talk about how easily the photos can spread even when you don’t intend them to – Talk about how being pressured to do something makes you uncomfortable
  – Talk about healthier, safer ways to show trust
Tips to remember:

• Think about all the audiences who might see the things you are posting online.
• Remember that the bad things you say about others can also affect your own reputation.
• If you do something that upset someone- consider apologizing.
• If a serious problem won’t go away try talking to an adult you trust.
• Bad information about you in a Google search doesn’t have to last forever.
• When it comes to inappropriate photos have a comfortable strategy for saying no.