INTRODUCTION

Dear Student,

Welcome to the Fordham Center for Nonprofit Leaders.

This Student Handbook provides you with all the pertinent information – academic and non-academic – you will need to successfully navigate Fordham University and to take full advantage of your year at the Center for Nonprofit Leaders.

Please read the handbook carefully. You are expected to be familiar with its content, including instructions, rules and procedures, whether they pertain to Fordham in general or to the Center in particular.

This Student Handbook is intended only to provide information for the guidance of students at the Center for Nonprofit Leaders (NPL students). The information is subject to change and the Center reserves the right to depart without notice from any policy or procedure referred to in this handbook. This handbook is not intended to be and should not be regarded as a contract between the Center for Nonprofit Leaders and any student or other person.

Please do not hesitate to contact the program administration if you have any questions or concerns.

Qualification and Requirements for Success in the Fordham Master of Science in Nonprofit Leadership Program

As an NPL student, and a leader in the nonprofit world, you are expected to possess certain abilities and attributes beyond meeting academic standards in order to successfully graduate with a Master of Science in Nonprofit Leadership. These qualities and attributes include cognitive, emotional and character requirements. Attention to these requirements and standards will be part of the evaluation of your classroom performance. The qualifications include:

Communication Skills

NPL students must communicate effectively and sensitively with other students, faculty, staff, and other professionals. They must express their ideas and feelings clearly and demonstrate a willingness and ability to listen to others. They must have sufficient skills in spoken and written English to understand the content presented in the program, and to complete adequately all oral and written assignments. They must write clearly, use correct grammar and spelling, and apply appropriate writing style, appropriate source citation, and documentation. In addition, NPL students must be computer literate.

Interpersonal Skills

NPL students must demonstrate the interpersonal skills needed to relate effectively to other students, faculty, staff, and other professionals. Students must exhibit compassion, altruism, integrity, and the demonstration of respect for and consideration of others. NPL Students must take appropriate responsibility for their own actions and consider the impact of these actions on others.
Stress Management
NPL students need to recognize the importance of handling stress within the context of family and social life, work, and rigorous academic requirements. The Center encourages NPL students to implement strategies for appropriate self-care and nurturance so that stress does not interfere with meeting program requirements.

Self-Awareness
The development of self-awareness is an ongoing process and an invaluable tool for nonprofit leaders. NPL students must know how their values, beliefs, attitudes, emotions, and past experiences affect their thinking, behavior and relationships. They must show awareness of self and how one is perceived by others—and be willing to examine and change their behavior when it interferes with their working with other professionals.

Ethical Obligations
As an NPL student you must:

- Respect the rights of others
- Appreciate the value of diversity and recognize the dignity and uniqueness of each person, regardless of the person’s age, class, race, ethnicity, religious affiliation (or lack thereof), gender, ability, sexual orientation and value system
- Maintain confidentiality in the classroom and all other professional and personal arenas
- Adhere to University policies

Professional Behavior
As an NPL student you are expected to:

- Regularly attend class
- Be punctual and dependable
- Be able to prioritize responsibilities
- Observe deadlines and complete assignments on time
- Keep appointments (or make appropriate arrangements) with faculty, program staff and other professionals
- Accept criticism in a constructive manner
- Advocate for yourself in an appropriate and responsible manner and use proper channels for conflict resolution

Registration
Registration for classes will be done by the Program Administration. You are required to take all courses, without exception.

If you need to drop a class due to extenuating circumstances, you must drop the class before the add/drop period or you may incur additional charges. Missed courses can be taken the following school year if and when the class is offered again. However, taking classes in the following school year will delay your graduation.
Financial Aid
Financial Aid information for graduate students is available online at:
http://www.fordham.edu/info/20787/graduate_financial_aid.

Please note:

- The Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) must be completed annually. This assessment determines which loans you are eligible to receive. You must include information from your income tax report.
- Federal Unsubsidized Loans cover up to $20,500 per year.
- Graduate Plus Loans may be taken out to cover a remaining balance.

Students will be notified of scholarship opportunities via e-mail. Students are also encouraged to seek outside scholarships.

Orientation Session
All students are required to attend the scheduled orientation session. Orientation will provide valuable information you will need throughout the course of your program. If you miss orientation, you are responsible for obtaining the information given out during orientation.

Identification Cards
Everyone in the Fordham University community is required to have an ID card while on campus. Please follow the instructions on your Fordham Portal (my.fordham.edu) to upload your picture in order to receive your ID. A $20 fee will be charged the first time you lose your ID card. A $30 fee will be charged for each additional card replacement. Report lost or stolen ID cards via your Fordham portal. To request a replacement during business hours, visit ID Services Office. After hours, please contact the office of Public Safety. Your Fordham ID Number (FIDN) is required to obtain a new card.

My.Fordham.edu and Student E-Mail
Your My.Fordham.edu account is your portal to Fordham information. Upon acceptance to the program, you will receive information about creating your account. This will allow you access to your personal information, registration, classroom assignments, and financial information. It is also your access to your Fordham email account. It is very important to check your Fordham email on a regular basis or set it to forward to your personal email. University offices will only send information to your Fordham account.

Fordham ID Number (FIDN)
Your FIDN is a random 8-digit number assigned to you at the time you enter the University. After you set up your my.fordham.edu account, you can find your FIDN listed on the first page of your account. You will need this number for many University systems as well as communication with administrative and financial aid offices.

Brightspace
Brightspace is a consolidated learning system the Center for Nonprofit Leaders is using for its on-campus as well as online classes. Before the start of the semester, students will be given the opportunity to familiarize themselves with the system through a Learner’s Course.

Immunizations
New York State Law (2165) requires all students born on or after January 1, 1957 to demonstrate proof of immunity against measles, mumps and rubella. Students must submit documentation from their physicians or former school health official stating they have had the necessary vaccinations or copies of lab work (titers) demonstrating immunity from these diseases. Measles, mumps and rubella immunizations are available for Fordham students at the Health Center for a fee. New York State Law also requires all students to have received a meningitis vaccine or sign a waiver of refusal. This vaccine is also available at the Health Center for a fee. The waiver can be downloaded from www.fordham.edu/health. The Health Center may be reached at 212-636-7160.

---

UNIVERSITY POLICIES
The University Code of Conduct as well as other University policies and procedures apply to you as an NPL student. You are responsible for knowing the Center and University policies and procedures.

Statement of Sexual Harassment Policy
Sexual harassment will not be tolerated in the University community. Any member of the faculty, staff, or student body who believes that he or she has been or is being sexually harassed is strongly urged to follow the resolution procedures found on the University Policies webpage. Failure to do so could impact your legal rights in the future. Detailed information can be found at: http://www.fordham.edu/info/22826/title_IX_sexual_misconduct

Non-Discrimination Policy
Fordham University is an academic institution that, in compliance with federal, state, and local laws, does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, creed, religion, age, sex, gender, national origin, marital or parental status, sexual orientation, citizenship status, veteran status, disability, or any other basis prohibited by law. Complaints should be directed to the Director of Institutional Equality and Compliance who may be reached at 718-817-3112.
University Policies on Academic Integrity

Students must maintain the highest standards of honesty, effort, and performance. Violations of academic integrity include, but are not limited to: plagiarism, cheating on exams, false authorship, and destruction of library materials needed for a course. These policies will be enforced rigorously and without discrimination.

Violations of Academic Integrity

Plagiarism

Plagiarism occurs when an individual attempts to present material as their own which has come from another source. Plagiarism occurs when such theft is accidental or deliberate. Examples include but are not limited to:

- Using another person’s ideas, whether or not such ideas are paraphrased from a source including oral, print, broadcast, or computer-mediated communication.
- Rewriting borrowed material by dropping an occasional word, substituting several words, or rearranging words or sentences.
- Presenting borrowed material without placing quotation marks around it in the approved style. “Forgetting” to do so is not a defense.
- Presenting as one’s own a paper or assignment partially or wholly prepared by any other person or online service that sells papers.

Cheating

Cheating occurs when individuals share course material or information when it is unauthorized or prohibited to do so. Examples include but are not limited to:

- Having or using unauthorized material at an exam, test, or quiz or copying another student’s assignment.
- Permitting another student to copy an assignment, paper, project, exam, test or quiz.
- Obtaining and/or using an examination, test, or quiz prior to administration.
- Having another person act as a proxy and take the examination, test, or quiz.

Additional Violations of Academic Integrity

Additional violations include but are not limited to:

- Theft, destruction of, or tampering with library materials, audio and video tapes, computer hardware or software, or other materials necessary for a course.
- The submission or presentation of a falsified excuse for an absence from a course requirement, exam, test, or quiz.
- The presentation or false identification credentials in order to gain admission to a course, exam, test, quiz or degree program.
- Submission of a paper or project to more than one course during the time in which a student is attending Fordham University, without explicit permission from an instructor.
Code of Conduct

As a member of the larger Fordham University community, NPL students must adhere to the Code of Conduct at Fordham University. If a student is found violating the University Code of Conduct, the University may impose a sanction or sanctions. Violations of the Code of Conduct include but are not limited to: physical, sexual, verbal – either oral or written- harassment; physical abuse, threats, intimidation, coercion and/or any other conduct which threatens or endangers the health or safety of another person; and the unauthorized selling, purchasing, producing or possession of any lethal weapons, explosives, fireworks or incendiary device. A detailed definition of the Code of Conduct can be found on the University Website.

For information about the procedures resulting from the violation of Center and/or University policies, please review the paragraph “Termination from the Program.”

ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

Academic Calendars

The Academic Calendar for the Master of Science in Nonprofit Leadership will be provided to you at orientation. It will also be uploaded to the Center website. Please review it for important dates and holidays.

Class Schedules

Classes are scheduled in the evenings, leadership labs are schedule on alternate Saturdays. One class each semester will be offered fully online. This design helps to make the program accessible to students who work during the week.

Student Advancement Policy

You are required to maintain a 3.0 grade point average to graduate from the program. If you fall below a 3.0 for a term, you will automatically be placed on academic probation and you must see the Center Director and/or the Program Associate who serve as the student advisors. You may not remain on academic probation for more than one term.

ADVISING

Advisement

Advisement with regard to academic issues in general will be provided by the Center Director and the Program Associate. Questions regarding specific course content, grading, short-time absences, and extensions on assignments need to be directed to the faculty member of the class in question.

Extenuating Circumstances

If you are unable to continue in your course of study due to extenuating circumstances, please contact the Center Director immediately.

Graduation

You must maintain a 3.0 grade point average throughout your program in order to graduate.
ACADEMIC GUIDELINES

Attendance
To gain the most from the program, and to be eligible for the degree, you must attend all classes and leadership labs. If you need to miss a class due to extenuating circumstances, you must contact the professor as early as possible.

Extenuating circumstances include religious holidays, serious illness, death in the student’s immediate family, or mandatory employment related obligations that cannot be delegated or moved to another time. With the appropriate documentation, absences for extenuating circumstances are considered excused absences, and students will be given an opportunity to make up class examinations or other graded assignments.

The maximum number of total excused absences will not exceed 2 for 15 week classes, 1 for 8 week classes, and 0 for intensive courses.

In cases where unusual circumstances cause a student to miss a significant amount of class time for reasons beyond the student’s control, the student must confer with the faculty member and the Center Director to ascertain whether it is feasible to complete the degree.

Unexcused absences and absences beyond the allowed number jeopardize your academic standing and may lead to the dismissal from the program.

Leave of Absence and Withdrawal
If you find it necessary to withdraw from a course, you must speak with the Center Director immediately. You must complete a withdrawal form in the registrar’s office. There is no financial penalty for withdrawals prior to the start of the term. Withdrawal from a course after the semester begins will result in a “W” on your transcript, and you will be charged on a pro-rated basis according to the date of withdrawal. The University policies regarding tuition refund or, “institutional charges,” may be found on the Fordham website at: http://www.fordham.edu/info/21262/refunds

If it is necessary to take a leave of absence, please contact the Center Director immediately. Since the program is only 3 terms in length, you will need to defer your completion of the program and re-enter the program at the appropriate time the following year.

Re-entry after Educational Disruption
According to Fordham University policy, students who have taken a leave of absence, withdrawn from classes for medical reasons, or have had a disruption in their educational program may be required to participate in the re-entry process. This process is managed by the Program Administration in cooperation with Counseling and Psychological Services and Student Health Services. You may be required to present documentation verifying readiness to return to the program. Please contact Program Staff for further information.
Consultation
If you have a concern about a course, you should first consult the course instructor. If the concern is not resolved, you should approach the Center Director. Please contact the Center administration to schedule an appointment.

Administrative Review
An administrative review is held when a student’s academic difficulties are serious in nature. The review takes place when a student fails a course, falls below the minimum 3.0 grade point average or if there is a concern about academic integrity.

An administrative review consists of a meeting between the Center Director, the Program Associate and the student to address the matter. In preparation for the review, the Center Director consults with the student’s professor(s). The faculty member(s) may attend the review meeting. The review may lead to temporary accommodations regarding course work and/or assignments, a recommendation to contact Student Disability Services, or a recommendation to take a leave of absence or to discontinue the program.

Committee on Academic Progress (CAP)
If, after the administrative review, a student continues to have academic difficulties a faculty member or advisor can request a review from the Committee on Academic Progress (CAP). The CAP will review the circumstances and make a recommendation to the Dean of the Graduate School of Social Service (GSS) as to whether de-matriculation is warranted.

The CAP is convened and chaired by the Senior Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at GSS. The committee will always have three voting members: the committee chair, one MS-NPL faculty member, and the Center Director. No member of the CAP can have a personal interest in the outcome of the review.

After the committee reaches a decision whether de-matriculation is warranted, it is communicated to the student verbally and in writing. The student has 10 days to appeal the decision to the GSS Dean. The Dean’s decision is final and will be sent to the student in writing.

Grading
The graduate schools use a letter grading system for all courses as follows: A, excellent; B+, very good; B, good; C, passing; F, failure. There is no grade D in the graduate school. The grades P (passed) and F (failed) are used in the Leadership Lab courses. Other grades in the graduate school are: Incomplete (INC) and withdrawn (W).

Incomplete Policy
A grade of INC (incomplete) in a course is generally discouraged and only employed when faculty determine that coursework could not be completed due to extenuating circumstances. A request for an “incomplete” must be made by the student in writing to the faculty member. The faculty member and the student must agree upon an acceptable extension for unfinished assignments. The extension due date shall not extend beyond four weeks from the initial due date. The instructor is under no obligation to accept work after four weeks. An “incomplete” will be converted to an “F” after four weeks.
If work is not submitted during the semester and no requests have been made in writing, a “No Grade Reported” will be given. After four weeks this status will also be converted to an “F.”

The instructor’s decision about a grading-related matter is final. Only the original course instructor can change an “incomplete” or an “F” on a transcript to another grade. The instructor will complete the necessary form and submit it to Program Staff.

TERMINATION FROM THE PROGRAM

A student may be terminated for three reasons:

Failure to maintain a 3.0 GPA
Students must maintain a 3.0 cumulative grade point average. The administrative team monitors academic progress. When a student’s cumulative GPA falls below a 3.0, the following steps are taken:

1. The student is placed on academic probation. The student will be notified in writing via mail or e-mail.
2. The Center Director will initiate an Administrative Review (see p.11)
3. The student’s progress is monitored by Program Staff.
4. If the student’s performance does not improve, the Center Director will initiate a review by the Committee on Academic Progress (CAP)

Violation of Academic Integrity
Students are expected to uphold the standards of academic integrity at all times. The Academic Integrity policy is attached to every syllabus. Please see, “Violations of Academic Integrity” for more detailed definitions. Violations are handled in the following manner:

1. Notification of violations of academic integrity are brought to the attention of the Center Director. The Center Director will inform the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at the Graduate School of Social Service (GSS).
2. The Associate Dean for Academic Affairs at GSS will meet with the student and the faculty member for an Administrative Review. The student’s overall performance and alleged violation will be reviewed in detail.
3. If an appropriate resolution can be reached in the Administrative Review, a letter summarizing the meeting and the outcome will be sent to the student and a copy will be kept on file.
4. If no resolution is reached during the Academic Review, the Committee on Academic Progress (CAP) will convene. Possible outcomes of the CAP hearing are:
   a. No further action is necessary
   b. Termination of the student from the program. Written notification of termination will be sent to the student.
   c. The student has ten days to appeal the decision in writing to the Dean of GSS.
   d. The Dean’s decision of appeal is final and will be sent in writing to the student.

All decisions and communications with the student are documented and placed in the student’s file.
Violation of University Code of Conduct

If a student is found violating the University Code of Conduct, the University may impose a sanction or sanctions. Violations include but are not limited to: physical, sexual, verbal – either oral or written-harassment; physical abuse, threats, intimidation, coercion and/or any other conduct which threatens or endangers the health or safety of another person; and the unauthorized selling, purchasing, producing or possession of any lethal weapons, explosives, fireworks or incendiary device.

When there is an alleged Code of Conduct violation, the Program Director notifies the University Dean of Students who initiates the following steps:

1. A preliminary investigation is conducted to determine whether the infraction can be resolved informally or if a formal hearing is necessary.
2. When a hearing is warranted, the process is as follows:
   a. The student is notified in writing by the University Dean of Students and shall have the opportunity for a hearing.
   b. The hearing is conducted by the University Dean of Students or a designee and the student. The student will present his/her full and final version of the alleged violation.
3. The accused student shall be free from conduct sanctions upon conclusion of the hearing unless the University Dean of Students determines that there is a risk to the student or the University community.
4. When a student has been found guilty of violating a rule under the Code of Conduct, the sanction imposed may range from disciplinary reprimand, to suspension from the University, to expulsion from the University. The University Dean of Students shall inform the student of the sanction verbally and in writing.

The Associate Dean of Students at the Graduate School for Social Service works closely with the University Dean of Students in such incidents. Additional information about the Code of Conduct, violations, and hearing processes can be found in the Lincoln Center Student Handbook online: http://www.fordham.edu/student_affairs/deans_of_students_an/student_handbooks/lincoln_center_stude/

Upon conclusion of the University assessment and process, the following steps are taken by the Center for Nonprofit Leaders:

1. If the University Dean of Student determines that the student is permitted to remain at the University and return to the program, the Program Director will conduct an Administrative Review.
2. The Administrative Review will examine the University’s decision with the student. The outcome of this examination may be: resolution, recommendation of additional actions, or initiation of a Committee on Academic Progress meeting.
3. If a CAP meeting is initiated, formal proceedings of the CAP are followed.

All decisions and communication with the student is documented and placed in the student’s file.
GRIEVANCES

Initiating a Grievance
If you believe that you have been treated unfairly regarding course enrollment, classroom treatment, final course grades, academic probation, suspension, or dismissal, you have the right to seek an impartial and formal review.

Informal Procedures
You must first make a complaint to the faculty member or Program Staff responsible for treatment you regard as unfair. If a satisfactory resolution of the complaint is not obtained, you must appeal to the Center Director in writing. If satisfactory resolution is not obtained, you may initiate a formal appeal.

Formal Procedures: Academic Grievance Appeals Committee.
If the informal appeal procedures do not result in resolution, you may request a formal investigation by the Academic Grievance Appeals Committee. This request must be made in writing and provide details of the perceived unfair treatment. It must identify the informal appeal procedures that were followed and explain why no resolution was reached. This request must be made to the committee within two weeks of the completion of the informal appeal.

The Academic Grievance Appeals Committee
The Academic Grievance Appeals Committee is chaired by the Dean of Students at GSS and includes two faculty members. The committee’s function is advisory.

The committee meetings are closed. Committee decisions are made by majority vote. Each member of the committee has one vote. In judging the appeals, the committee weighs the evidence supplied by the student filing the complaint. The committee may call upon a member of the program for personal or written testimony. The faculty member or administrator against whom the complaint is lodged has the right to present evidence to the committee as well.

The chairperson will prepare a written report detailing the committee’s findings and submit it to the Dean of GSS. The committee may also offer recommendations for appropriate remedies. The Dean makes the final decision.

Non-Academic Grievances
Students are encouraged to inform the Center Director if they believe they are victims of discrimination prohibited by Title IX. The Program Director will facilitate communications with the Dean of Students at GSS and the University Dean of Students.

A complete description of Title IX Grievance Procedures of Sex Discrimination (including Sexual Harassment), Sexual Assault and Violence, Stalking and Domestic Violence as well as the informal and grievance procedures can be found on the University’s website at:
http://www.fordham.edu/info/21366/policies/2719/sexual_misconduct_policies_and_grievance_procedures

Please follow the website for the most up to date grievance procedures.

Office of Disability Services
The Office of Disability Services (ODS) at Fordham University help to ensure equal educational access and opportunity for all members of our community. In the Jesuit tradition of cura personalis, members of the ODS staff work individually with each student to understand his or her strengths and limitations in order to develop a comprehensive and effective accommodation plan.

In addition to working in a direct service capacity with students, the Office of Disability Services also collaborates with administrators, faculty, and staff to ensure that the facilitation of reasonable and appropriate accommodations for students with documented disabilities is provided. Fordham will offer reasonable and appropriate auxiliary aids and services to assist otherwise qualified individuals in achieving access to its programs, services, and facilities. Documentation must submitted to ODS and an intake appointment conducted to develop an accommodation plan with the student in accordance with Section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. It is recommended that students request accommodations before starting classes.
