

Jailing for Dollars:

The Moral Costs of Privatizing Justice

An Interdisciplinary Conference

The United States has become the world's leading jailer, with 2.2 million prisoners.

Hear from national leaders who will explore pressing moral questions about the prison-industrial complex, including dangerous overcrowding, unsafe work and health conditions, and a public-private system that incentivizes high incarceration rates with devastating effects on poor and minority communities.

Tuesday, April 23, 2013
6 p.m.

McNally Amphitheatre
140 W. 62nd St.
Lincoln Center Campus
Fordham University
New York City

FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC
RECEPTION TO FOLLOW

Registration is at 5:30 p.m.

REGISTER

www.fordham.edu/PrisonConference
718-817-0926
ethics@fordham.edu

FOR MORE INFORMATION ABOUT THE CENTER FOR ETHICS EDUCATION, CONTACT:

Celia B. Fisher, Director,
Center for Ethics Education
Marie Ward Doty University Chair
and Professor of Psychology
Fordham University
Dealy Hall, Room 226 | Bronx, NY 10458
Tel: 718-817-3793 | Fax: 718-817-0731
fisher@fordham.edu

Panelists

- Cindy Chang, Los Angeles Times
- Scott Cohn, CNBC
- Thomas Giovanni, Brennan Center for Justice
- Judith Greene, Justice Strategies
- Michael Jacobson, Vera Institute of Justice

Moderated by John Pfaff,
Associate Professor, Fordham University School of Law

Interested in a career in ethics? Join faculty and students at 5 p.m. in the McNally Amphitheatre to learn more about the Master's in Ethics and Society program.

CLE CREDITS AVAILABLE: This conference is appropriate for newly admitted and experienced attorneys and is approved for a maximum of 2 transitional and non-transitional ethics credit hours.

