Post-Doctoral Psychology Fellowship 2017-18

Fordham University Counseling and Psychological Services (CPS) will offer three postdoctoral fellowships for the 2017-18 academic year (August 1, 2017 through July 31 2018), two at the Rose Hill Campus and one at the Lincoln Center Campus. The fellowship carries a stipend of $21,500, full benefits (described in detail below) and fully meets the licensure requirement of supervised postdoctoral hours in New York and many other states. We emphasize generalist practice from a social justice-centered and relational psychodynamic perspective, while allowing fellows to develop additional expertise in an administrative area relevant to university counseling (e.g., training and supervision, group therapy, outreach/prevention).

Fordham CPS is committed to diversifying our staff and to increasing diversity in the field through quality training. We welcome and encourage applications from individuals from all religious backgrounds, racial/ethnic minority individuals, immigrants and international students, LGBTQ and gender-expansive individuals, second-career/non-traditional-age applicants, individuals with disabilities, and others who are historically underrepresented in the mental health fields.

RESPONSIBILITIES:
• Provide direct clinical services, including phone screenings, intake assessments, brief psychotherapy, group therapy, and crisis intervention, to a diverse undergraduate and graduate student population.
• Provide clinical supervision to an extern (second semester).
• Participate in training, multidisciplinary and administrative team meetings.
• Provide consultation to faculty, administrators, families and community providers about students of concern and campus-wide mental health issues.
• Participate in CPS’s outreach, prevention and referral services.
• Administrative duties as assigned.

TRAINING ACTIVITIES:
• Supervision: Post-doctoral fellows receive 2 hours of individual supervision per week (one with a CPS staff psychologist and one with our consulting supervisor). Supplemental supervision is provided for additional activities such as co-leading groups or conducting outreach.
• Seminars: Fellows meet weekly with Training Director and other staff members for case conferences, didactics, multicultural seminar (fall semester), and supervision of supervision seminar (spring semester).
• Concentration: Each fellow completes a year-long concentration as an "assistant coordinator" in one area (training/supervision, group therapy, or outreach), shadowing/learning from and supporting the activities of the staff member responsible for that area of CPS’ operations.
QUALIFICATIONS:
• Completed doctorate in clinical, counseling or school psychology or related field (ABD candidates may be considered).
• Experience with providing short term and group psychotherapy in a university mental health setting.
• Commitment to providing multicultural counseling and conceptualizing from a psychodynamic framework.
• Ability to work collaboratively with a diverse university community of students, faculty, administrators and families.
• Dedication to learning about, understanding and supporting the care of students and the vocation of student affairs in the context of Fordham University’s Jesuit tradition.

SALARY AND BENEFITS:
• The fellowship is a full-time (35 hours per week) benefits-eligible hourly position with an estimated yearly salary of $21,500. Schedule is flexible, with option for a 4-day or 5-day work week.
• University benefits include medical, dental, and vision insurance, paid holidays, and optional employer-matched retirement fund.
• Fellows have access to university library, fitness facilities, and covered parking garage (subsidized by CPS).
• Limited funding is available for professional development (conferences, etc.).

TO APPLY:
Email cover letter, CV, graduate transcripts (unofficial is OK), and two letters of recommendation to:

Elizabeth Clark, Psy.D.
Training Director, Rose Hill
