Rise of the American Suburb
Dr. Jonathon Appels (212) 242-1664
MTWR 9:00am
Summer 2017
Office Hours: TBD

Course Description:

An examination of the nineteenth century origins of the suburb as a counterpoint to the city and the role of nature in shaping the design of this new form of country living. The twentieth century transformation of the suburb into the American dream will be evaluated in light of the resultant sprawl and the policy critiques of this pattern of growth. The course is concerned with suburbia as a lifestyle, perspective, and outlook, especially in relationship to notions of comfort, and reduction of variables. A cultural history of suburban versus urban arts, food, bodies, noise, space, temporality; the automobile versus walking, the American dream.

Attendance Policies:

No more than two absences or you risk failing the course. Tardiness of more than half an hour counts as a full absence. You are requested to drop the course after three absences unless you have the Dean's written permission.

Students are expected to attend all classes. If you expect to miss one or two classes please speak to me in advance.

Also note: Electronic devices (iPods, iPads, tablets, cell phones, Kindles, Nooks texting, laptops, photography, recording devices, etc.) will not be allowed during the seminar.

Grading Criteria:

All of the following assignments assume the clarification of a theoretical position.

35% Term paper (12-15 pages) Due July 25

25% Idea Book (25 pages of informal writing and journal entries from the site visits) Due July 25

15% Class participation and attendance, and short in class written assignments

25% Four oral presentations

Late papers will be downgraded one grade per week late. No email submissions. Papers should be proofread for all grammatical and typographic errors before submission. Multiple grammatical errors will lower the overall grade. More than three typographical or grammatical errors on a single page can be graded no higher than a C. Two errors on a single page can be graded no higher than a B.

Discussion Groups:

Students will be part of Discussion Groups with Presidents and Vice Presidents. If you have forgotten the homework, or are absent, and are not clear on the assignment, you can contact the President or Vice President, or any member of the Discussion Group, as well as anyone else in the class through the President and Vice President of each Discussion Group. In short, your first resource is each other. If your questions are not clarified through that means, then feel free to call me by leaving a message at my home number (212) 242-1664. Please be sure to pronounce your phone number on my answering machine since I do not have caller recognition.

Requirements for the Idea Book:

Idea Book: The Idea Book is a form of free writing, that is, writing without grammatical concerns, or subject restrictions (as long as the writing is linked to the work of the class).

- 25 pages typed (14 font and double spaced) or handwritten (single-spaced)
- Pages are standard 8 1/2 x 11
- Make sure to paginate each page
- Include Table of Contents as the first page with a list of the trips taken and the corresponding page numbers
- The content is concerned with your individual impressions and interpretations of the required books, class discussions, and the visits to cultural institutions.
- Also consider your reflections on how your academic work is connected to the rest of your life.
- Discuss how the artistic pedagogies and sensibilities you discern in this course relate to the development of your ideas and creativity.
- Writing is stream of consciousness thought process, associational thinking, and not structured, similar to a diary, a journal, or blogging.
- Please be sure to turn in a copy of the Idea Book and save the original for yourself.
- Images should be no more than 2% of the entire Idea Book

Requirements for the Research Paper:

- 12-15 pages, double spaced, 14 font
- Refer to all the visits to cultural institutions.
- Thesis as part of the introduction.
- Restatement of thesis as part of the concluding paragraph.
- Integrate one quote each from all the books you have read.
- Integrate two scholarly quotes (from outside sources, not from the required books you have read in this course).
- Develop thoughtful transitions between the books and the visits to cultural institutions.
- Note: Quotes should be between one and four sentences long.
- Use MLA Format.
- Works Cited page required.

Oral Presentation Guidelines

- You must use 4 quotes from the book you are presenting. All quotes must be 4-5 sentences in length.
- You need to have 2 sentences after each quote which explains what you believe the passage means for the writer, and for your own thesis. These two sentences should give a wider context to the quote.
- You need 2 additional quotes for your presentation (also 4-5 sentences in length) from scholarly sources which help to interpret and contextualize the book and the author, and that help to show the book in a wider, interdisciplinary context.
- Include a 1-2 page synopsis of the book (and include a bio of the author linked to those unusual facts that are of particular interest to you).
- Present a physically embodied and expressive movement sequence response that reveals an important element in the book and codifies the concerns of the book (1-2 minutes).
- You must bring typed copies for everyone in the class plus the instructor
- Students who do not have these handouts for all students by the start of the class will forfeit the opportunity to make a presentation on that day. The presentation will instead be given as a late presentation the following week and will receive a grade of at least one grade level lower when the presentation is given.
- You must bring typed copies for everyone in the class and for the instructor. If students are absent the day of your presentation, please write their names on your extra copies and give them their copies at subsequent class.

UNIVERSITY STATEMENT ON ACADEMIC INTEGRITY: A University, by its nature, strives to foster and recognize originality of thought. Originality can only be recognized, however, when people acknowledge the sources of ideas or works that are not their own. Therefore, students must maintain the highest standards with regards to honesty, effort and performance. As a Jesuit, Catholic University, Fordham is committed to ensuring that all members of the academic community strive not only for excellence in scholarship but also for integrity of character. In the pursuit of knowledge and personal development, it is imperative that students present their own ideas and insights for evaluation, critique and eventual reformulation. As part of this process, each student must acknowledge the intellectual contribution of others.... Violations of academic integrity include, but are not limited to, plagiarism, cheating on exams, falsification, unapproved collaboration, and destruction of library materials. For further details, consult the Standards of Academic Integrity on the University website http://www.fordham.edu/academics/handbooks__publicati/undergraduate_academ/index.asp

EQUAL EDUCATIONAL ACCESS FOR ALL STUDENTS: The Office of Disability Services at Fordham University helps to ensure equal educational access and opportunity for all members of our community. In the Jesuit tradition of cura personalis, members of the ODS staff work individually with each student to understand his or her strengths and limitations in order to develop their most effective and comprehensive accommodation plan. Fordham will offer reasonable and appropriate auxiliary aids and services to assist otherwise qualified persons in achieving access to its programs, services, and facilities once students meet with ODS for an initial intake meeting to develop an accommodation plan directly with the student in accordance with Section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and Title III of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. Students seeking accommodation(s) should contact Erin Koch, Assistant Director of Disability Services, (212) 636-6282 disabilityservices@fordham.edu
